Deep imputation of missing values in time series health data: A review with benchmarking

Anonymous Submission for Double-Blind Peer Review

Abstract

Missing values are ubiquitous in multivariate time series health data collected in intensive care units, clinical trials

Keywords: Missing values, time series, health data, deep learning, imputation benchmarking.

1. Introduction

The proliferation of digital health records and bedside monitoring devices has led to the collection of massive lon